➤ History of Vienna

CITY OF VIENNA

1841

First called Berrien and later Centerville, Vienna, the county seat of Dooly County was named by Wiley Cobb, a member of the legislature from Dooly County on February 28, 1841. The town was incorporated on February 18, 1854. Vienna was chosen as the county seat because at that time its location was the approximate geographical center of the county. On September 12, 1888 progress and prosperity came more rapidly to Vienna with the Georgia Southern & Florida Railroad. With the railroad came the first telegraph office, the first waterworks, and electric lights followed in 1903.

Vienna, Georgia is located on an elevated place, near the watershed between the Ocmulgee and Flint Rivers, surrounded by water and perfectly drained by natural streams. The City was described metaphorically as a woman in a 1903 promotional piece titled "Greater Vienna":

"The cap of the hill is in the center, her dress is hemmed with a fluted valley and the beautiful streams form a girdle around her waist and the tall pines make a green plumage about her crown."

Vienna not only grows cotton, but has produced some very famous people as well: United States Senator Walter F. George (1922-1957), former Georgia Governor George Busbee (1974-1982), Jody Powell the popular press secretary to former President Jimmy Carter, Olympic great Roger Kingdom, and Emily Woodward founder of the Georgia Press Institute, just to name a few. There are 2 museums in Vienna. The Walter F. George Law Office Museum, dedicated to the memory of the United States Senator is located in his restored law office in Busbee Park. The other museum is the Georgia State Cotton Museum located just off Interstate 75 at Exit 109.

Another claim to fame is the BIG PIG JIG® held in its own little village named BBQ City, USA. This event was born when a group of local self-professed gourmets made wagers on who could cook the most succulent pig! The cooking competition was established in 1982 and celebrated its 25th anniversary in 2006. The event has won numerous awards over the years and draws thousands of spectators each November. The BIG PIG JIG® is the official Georgia State Championship BBQ Cookoff.

The Vienna City Council designated the Vienna Central Historic District in 2004 with the adoption of the Historic District Ordinance. In 2005 the District was listed on the National Register of Historic Places. The Vienna Central Historic District includes resources of a combined commercial and residential multi-resource district. The commercial area comprises the heart of the Vienna Central Historic District with the Dooly County Courthouse and the town square being the focal point.

The surrounding area still reflects a strong rural character. Many elements in downtown Vienna reflect the community's heritage and these resources are valued by the community.

Vienna continues to be an enterprising city with recent developments in industrial growth and commercial development. The city limits have expanded to and beyond Interstate 75, with businesses clustered around the exits. The historic downtown has undergone historic restoration changes and beautification projects that have resulted in a more user-friendly downtown and an eclectic mix of retail and services. Antiques and cultural heritage tourism serves as the draw that will make the City a destination.

Our past is the building block of our future and opportunities of that future are at hand. The Mayor and City Council are dedicated to the citizens, quality of life and planning and preparation that will ensure quality development and smart growth for our community.
